Is Tributary To Astoria

Oil From Deep River District
More Easily Piped To This City Than Any Other Point.

President Harrison Allen of the Push club will appoint a committee of the club at an early date to investigate the petroleum field that is said to exist in the Deep River district. This action was decided upon at a meeting of the club yesterday afternoon in response to a request from John Nelson and other residents of Deep River.

The letter to the Push club, signed by John Nelson and others, read as follows:

"Deep River, Wash., June 12.—The undersigned land owners on Deep River respectfully ask your honorable body to aid us in getting up a development company to bore for petroleum oil on Deep River. We have secured an analysis of the gas found on the premises of John Nelson near the mouth of the river, showing 1.72 per cent of carbon dioxide and 91.99 per cent of hydro carbon or methane, with 2.88 per cent of hydrogen and 3.38 per cent of nitrogen. This analysis was made by Prof. Campbell, the famous chemist of Ann Arbor, who pronounces it 'a high grade of natural gas.' We have also secured a practical oil expert, who bored many years in the oil and gas fields of Kansas, to examine this region and report what the petroleum oil prospect was. He reports the gas to be hydro carbon, or petroleum gas, and that the oil prospect is excellent, the predominant rock being sandstone with tough blue clay and shale the leading features.

"We are unable to make the test. We ask you to help us get up a company. Your interest in finding the oil here is plain. The expert tells us it can be piped across the river to Astoria more easily than over highland. Of course, its value to Astoria for factories, ships, domestic use, etc., is plain. It can also be piped to Portland on the river margin. Your body could easily enlist both Astoria and Portland capitalists to secure the test of this important industry."

To the letter was attached a report by S. H. Patterson, the expert referred to in the request. Mr. Patterson spoke in high terms of the prospects for petroleum, his investigation of the gas flower at Oneida on Mr. Nelson's property convincing him that the indications were of the best. The gas is at present piped 1000 feet into Mr. Nelson's residence where it furnishes light and fuel, bubbling up from the bed of a tide creek through a tough blue clay that is characteristic of the Kansas oil fields. Sandstone, shale, and blue clay predominate in the strata exposed to superficial observation, a fact that will make the boring for oil easy. Mr. Patterson ends by declaring himself to be conservative, but that he considers the present proposition very good, in fact, excellent.

WOMAN'S CLUB

At the regular meeting of the Woman's club yesterday afternoon officers were elected. They are as follows: Mrs. J. E. Graike, president; Mrs. H. G. Van Dusen, vice president; Mrs. W. O. Barnes, recording secretary; Miss Sue H. Elmore, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. A. Finch, treasurer; Mrs. Samuel Elmore and Mrs. F. D. Kuettner, directors. The committee on arrangements reported that everything is progressing nicely toward royal entertainment for the delegates during the state federation that meets here this month. It was decided at yesterday's meeting to hold a rose tea at the home of Mrs. C. R. Thomson.

High School Entertainment

Alumni, Graduates, Pupils, And Friends Spend A Most Enjoyable Time.

A reception was given in honor of the high school graduates of '03 last evening in Hanthorne's hall by the alumni. Covers were laid for 60 and the tables presented a charming picture, covered as they were with choice cut flowers and the dainty refreshments. Besides the members of the alumni and their guests, the graduates, there were present the board of education, teachers of the high school and the junior class. The juniors assisted in waiting upon the tables and in other ways helped to make the reception the success it proved to be.

A program of excellence was rendered. It follows:

Address of welcome, A. B. Dalgity, president of the alumni; piano duet, Misses Jessie Sands and Florence Goddard; toast—To our president, A. A. Cleveland; piano solo, George Barker; toast—To our flag, George Ohler; toast—To the class of '03, Miss Katie Sinnott; toast—To our alumni girls, Frank Woodfield; vocal solo, J. C. SOCIETY NOTES.

TEA AT MRS. ALLEN'S.

A tea was given in honor of Miss Sadie Sutherland Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. B. Allen on Commercial street. Mrs. Allen was assisted in receiving and in the entertaining by Miss Lila Sutherland. The recipient of the reception had not been apprised of the arrangements being made in her honor so the event was an entire surprise. The tea was a Japanese affair, the rooms being lighted with Chinese lanterns which hung about in a picturesque fashion. The dining room was done in white and red, while palms and Scotch broom were everywhere to be seen. A feature of the afternoon was the linen shower bestowed upon the honored guest. Punch and delicate refreshments were served, and Newmarket was played. In the games Miss Boss Reed won first prize and Miss Lucille Cole carried off the consolation. Those present at the tea were: Misses Bess Reed, Nellie Uttinger, Florence Ross, Gertrude Stockton, May Uttinger, Lucille Cole, Grace Stokes, Maja Frederickson, Bertha Hobson, Mary Berry, Frances Thomas, Gertrude Berry, Annie Smith, Sadie Sutherland and Lila Sutherland.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Elmore and daughters Miss Sue H. and Miss Florence Elmore will arrive home early this week from California. Miss Elsie Elmore, who has been attending a seminary in Washington City, will probably be home at about the same time.

Mr. and Mrs. Onesime Sovey have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marie Adele, to Mr. Sherman Grant Trullinger. The wedding will take place July 2.

One of the delightful affairs in the social whirl during the week was the reception tendered by Miss Gertrude Kierney Wednesday evening to a party of her friends.

Protest Sent By Telegraph

United Congressional Convention
Remonstrates With War Department Regarding Sius-law Improvement.

A telegram protesting against the cessation of work on the Siuslaw was sent to the war department yesterday by the Oregon congressional delegation.

Senator Fulton, who came down from Portland on the train, in discussing the matter last night, said that the delegation was convinced that the work should not be stopped. An appropriation has been made, but on the report of the engineer the improvement was abandoned on the ground that the commerce did not justify the expenditure. Senator Fulton declared the engineer to be mistaken in this respect.

"No," said the senator on his arrival last night, in response to a question, "the delegation did not decide upon any appointments. Several were discussed, but no decision was reached."

"We also talked over several matters of interest to the state, but reached no final conclusions except in the Siuslaw case."

"No, the date for the next meeting of the delegation has not been fixed."

So the suspense is still continued for those who are anxiously hoping for a piece of the political pie.

In Portland yesterday afternoon Senator Fulton was asked by a Telegram reporter concerning the distribution of patronage.

"Well," he replied, "the trouble is in finding people to accept appointments. You see, it isn't every one who is willing to devote his entire time to a public office. The inducement isn't very great, and it's awfully wearing on the nerves. I always make it a point to advise my friends not to enter public office."

"You especially advise them not to come out for senator?"

"Oh, yes, as a matter of principle," and the senator laughed so loud that Congressman Hermann hurriedly left Senator Mitchell's room to ascertain the cause of the clatter.

"Now ask Hermann," suggested Williamson.

The representative of the First District, however, looked at his watch and protested that he must depart.

"The only way I see to solve the question of patronage is to divide it amongst ourselves," announced Fulton.

GOOD OPERA NEXT FRIDAY.

The light opera "Priscilla" will be performed at Fisher's next Friday evening by a company of local stars. The ladies and gentlemen are working hard on their parts and the indications are that the performance will be an excellent one. The fact that Priscilla will be played by Mrs. J. T. Ross, and that Frank Carahan will take the part of Miles Standish, the gallant Puritan officer, is sufficient assurance that there will be nothing lacking to make up an evening of fine entertainment.

Longfellow's immortal poem, Miles Standish, is followed closely by the librettist, while the score is pure melody blended with exquisite harmony.

PRESIDING ELDER TO PREACH.

Rev. C. L. Hansen, presiding elder of the Oregon District Norwegian-Danish Conference, will preach at the Norwegian-Danish church tomorrow evening. Mr. Hansen is a well-known speaker, and his coming will be an event in local circles. After the service the quarterly conference of the church will be held.

The steamer Robert Dollar arrived in from San Francisco yesterday, bringing several consignments of groceries and hardware for local firms.
